

Postmortem of sprint 2

1. things you want to keep doing

Communicating with our team, reaching out when we have any issues writing our code or making test cases.

Committing to GitHub frequently so that we know what our progress looks like for the current sprint.

2. things that you want to avoid doing in the future

Leaving the coding until late in the sprint or after the weekend has passed, there is not as much time to write code and help others.